

Dare County has two evacuation routes: Highway 64 West and Highway 158 North

Dare County Emergency Management encourages residents and visitors to consider using Highway 64 West. Traffic backups on Highway 158 will occur as traffic from the northern Outer Banks and surrounding counties converge onto Highway 158. Highway 64 West has less congestion and traffic lights; allowing for constant speed. This route intersects Interstate 95 allowing motorists to head north or south to their desired destination. While this route may appear longer on a map or GPS, it is typically faster than evacuating via Highway 158.
